5	My child receives appropriate homework for their age.	122	39	2
Comment <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some weeks it is harder than others but we always give it a try. It is lovely to see what my child has been learning throughout the week. My child's homework has a good balance of challenge and consolidation appropriate to age. Sometimes the reading book is a little young. Sometimes too much. No concerns. The amount of homework can be a lot to do, especially as we are two working parents. Sometimes my child finds maths easy and would benefit from more challenging work. My child loves her homework. Sometimes seems excessive.

- Enrichment opportunities have been limited in the early years.
- Maybe add more art lessons in and creative paints etc.
- I don't think you can.

- More options like multisports club for after school activities, as my child grew so much with this.
- It would be good to have an end of year parents evening before finishing for the Summer.
- Both of my children have mentioned lunch options are very limited, often not much left to choose from.
- Ensure extra support is put in place as soon as possible for children who need it.
- Sports could be improved especially for the older years.
- Make the school more secure (cover fence).
- Earlier Breakfast Club start (e.g. 7.30) for shift workers. Able to easily book adhoc.
- I don't think there is anything. Emmaus is an amazing place for kids, staff and parents.
- My child struggles socially which I feel is not always supported.
